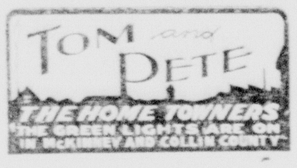
Measuring Of Wheat Acreage In County Will Begin Soon



POLITICS makes strange bed fellows, according to a McKinney citizen, who was telling Your Home Towners of a man that ran for office, was elected and after taking the oath of office had to tell a bald-face lie to get a man fired. We like politicians that keep everything in the open and call an ace an ace and a spade a spade. And, in Your Home Towners way of thinking, when you gotta lie to get a man fired—that's something like what's happening in smelly Austin.

YOUR HOME Towners would like to congratulate Lewis Baldwin, County Tax-Assessor and Collector and his employees for their personal work they are doing in McKinney and over the County in suggesting to pay your Poll Taxes. Mr. Baldwin stated it would certainly be wonderful if we could set a record and have 12,000 Poll Taxes and exemptions this year in Collin County. It would mean more money for our schools and let the Politicians know that we are interested in good Government. Pay Your Poll Taxes—for You and Momma.

▼ ▼ ▼

WHILE DOING a little cleaning this morning we ran across a paper dated May 17, 1945—do you remember these news items—

A pecan budding school will be held by Jack McCullough.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith have received a letter from Scotland that it is possible that their son Lt. Frank W. Smith Jr. is safe. Lt. Smith is a prisoner of war.

Mary Ann Goodner, City Editor of The Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette, had two feature stories in today's paper —Collin County Motor Co., and Carr's Ready To Wear.

Buy Your War Bonds at Penney's.

Bicycle wanted. 20 inch in any condition. See L. I. Perkins at Courier-Gazette.

Hard to get elastic at Jimmy Foster's.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Neilson of this city had the pleasure of talking with Lt. Barni a patient at Ashburn General Hospital who has been with their son, Lt. Horace Neilson, overseas for the past two years.

Tommy Hughston son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hughston, this city is a patient in the City-County Hospital.

Learn how to fly at the McKinney Airport. Remember what Grandpaw said: "I ain't gonna ride in one of them gasoline wagons — it wont be long before everyone will take to the sky."

▼ ▼ ▼

ATTENTION HAS been called to Your Home Towners that in Big McK. you can still get the best cup of coffee in Texas for a nickel. But likewise it was called to our attention that for $10,000 you might get a job representing some Insurance firm. Of course you will have to be in Austin.

▼ ▼ ▼

A DREAM that is hoped will come true is the building of the proposed Auditorium and Community house at the Picnic and Fair Grounds. It will be sponsored by the Collin County Purebred Livestock Association, The Confederate Veterans and Old Settlers Picnic Association, The Collin County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs and 4-H Club Council of Collin County. This project is long past due and is one of the most worthwhile projects that has and will be presented to the citizens of McKinney and the County. Agriculture is our No. 1 economy in Collin County and every effort must be made to increase its activity and worth. The old saying in Collin County yesterday and today holds true. As agriculture goes, so does Collin." Let's everyone of us back this project not only with our efforts but with our MONEY.

▼ ▼ ▼

As YOU read this Column, Your Home Towners wonder if you have paid your poll taxes — if not tie a string around your finger and Monday go pay them — remember this is an election year and you can't tell who is going to run and what issues will be presented to the voters of McKinney and Collin County.

▼ ▼ ▼

SEE WHERE the Chamber of Commerce have sent out the ballots for new directors. Every one on the list is tops but what Your Home Towners would like to see is that we get a lady or two on the Board of Directors. We have many many fine leaders in McKinney among the women folks — and they always get the job done.

Plano Downs Panthers 60-49 For 12-A Lead

Plano's five played it as cool as the Brink Nine at Plano Tuesday night to steal the District 12-A lead away from Duncanville, 60-49.

Plano the defending champ, entered the game in a dead heat with Duncanville at five wins and no losses. And it was almost a dead heat again early in the fourth when Duncanville whittled the Wildcat advantage to one point.

But Tommy Shields masterminded the big fourth-period steal that saw the steady Wildcats pull away with ease. Shields scored nine points in the period after a Panther rally had cut Plano's margin from 39-33 to 41-40 in three minutes of the third and fourth periods.

Unlike their Boston counterparts the Wildcats left plenty of clues behind. They stole the ball too much for Duncanville's high-scoring attack to ever get rolling. The Panthers' sloppy passing was their downfall. They got only 44 shots at the basket and his just 12. Plano meanwhile, scored on 24 of 67.

Plano defense was too eager at times and that kept the Panthers in the game. They his 25 of 37 free shots and managed to play Plano on nearly equal terms off the backboards, getting 27 to the winners 32.

After the lead changed four times early in the game Plano took the lead and kept it. Duncanville cut it several times but couldn't shake the Wildcat poise when it counted. Trailing by 21-40 early in the fourth, Duncanville went into a full-court press.

But Plano didn't feel the press and broke Don Guinn, Lewis Allman and Tom Shields into the clear for insurance points.

A tight Plano defense paid off, although Leonard Bell kept his district scoring lead with 22 points. Duncanville didn't get a goal in the second quarter, but hit on ten of 14 free throws.

Tuesday Games Half Way Mark In BB Schedule

The Wylie High School girls basketball team, champions of the district in 1955, took over sole possession of first place in the East Zone of the district Tuesday night when they beat previously undefeated Community 63-47 at Wylie. On the same program the Wylie boys moved ahead in their division with a 66-45 win over Community.

In the West Zone of the county the Celina girls moved into a tie with Allen 48-42. Allen and Celina now boast identical 3-1 records. And either Alla or Prosper are likewise tied with Celina and Allen since those teams played Tuesday night and results had not been received at press time.

The Celina boys are leading their zone with a perfect 4-0 record. Frisco is next with a 3-1 recod and occupies second place all alone unless Alla beat Prosper Tuesday in which case there is a two-way tie for the spot. Celina's boys beat Allen 41-28 Tuesday night.

In other Tuesday games Frisco's girls beat Melissa 44-21; Frisco boys 74, Melissa 52; Westminster girls 52, Anna 50, and Anna boys 51, Westminster 43.

Friday night of last week the results were as follows: Wylie girls 58, Princeton 38; Westminster girls 51, Blue Ridge 48; Community girls 63, Anna 25; Blue Ridge boys 67, Westminster 56; Wylie boys 60, Princeton 51; Anna boys, 49 Community 47, Allen girls 55, Frisco 36; Prosper girls 59, Melissa 19; Alla girls 51, Celina 40; Frisco boys 50, Allen 36; Melissa boys 63, Prosper 29, and Celina boys 58, Alla 40.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Byrd had as their guests recently Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stephenson, and children, Jim and Maddine, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgar, all of Farmersville.

Alla Cagers Take Both Frisco Games

Alla boys and girls both put on a good show for the faithful fans who slushed through the melting snow and rain Friday night at Alla gym to see the locals win a twin bill from Frisco. Both games were close with plenty of scoring to keep all fans happy and interested. Alla girls racked up a huge 72 to 56 win to gain a tie for second place in the topsy-turvy 40B district race. The boys had to come from behind to seek out a narrow 65 to 62 win in the last 30 seconds.

The Alla powder-puffs found the range early and plowed to a half time lead of 41 to 29, but were outscored in the third quarter by the perky fastness of the lasses from Frisco. Alla's Georgia Peterman scored a powerful 38 points, meshing 13 field goals of 22 for a .590 average while team mate Sue McDonald proved quite generous at the charity line as she sank 15 of 17 tosses for a .882 record. Helen Perry scored 9 and moved the ball well for Alla. Frisco's keen-eyed forward, Linda Carter, meshed 38 for the losers to keep them in the game throughout. Team wise Alla had a .446 average for field tosses and a .666 for free throws.

Alla boys found themselves facing a 5 point catch-up game at half time as the Frisco Coons held a 31 to 26 average. The see-saw affair found the score knotted on 8 occasions, twice in the last minute and a half. With the score knotted at 62 all in the last 30 seconds Alla center, Travis Johnson, slapped in a field goal and was fouled. His charity throw gave Alla a three point average that cinched the game. Lynn Logan, Alla's crafty forward, hit 9 for 20 field goals for a .480 mark and 18 points for top man for the Blackcats while Danny Smotherman tallied 26 points for the losers for game high-man.

Ministers And Faculty Will Battle Thursday

The ministers of the city have not forgotten the one point defeat by the faculty last year and are looking forward to getting revenge next Thursday morning in a basketball game at Caldwell Gym, during the activity period, before the student body and general public.

The ministers determined to show the public that those engaged in the preaching profession have to stay in better physical condition than a knowledge peddler. The divinity boys are anxious for a victory, but the faculty seems overconfident after their victory last year.

The ministers proved rather deft in the arts of basketball last year and led most of the game last year, only to have the faculty surge ahead in the last 30 seconds of play. Their roster includes some who played basketball in college.

The faculty will find it hard to replace James Boucher, who moved into the Dallas system, and was one of the high point men last year.

However several of the teachers played college ball and will only be slowed down by age. Some predict that, due to this aspect, much of the game will be played in slow motion.

The public is invited to join the students for the game on January 26 at 10:30 a.m. in Caldwell Gym. Admission is 20 cents for all. Proceeds from the game will go into the basketball fund.

The following have indicated they will take part in the battle royal:

Ministers —Dr. Charles Myers, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Rev. George Kemp, pastor of the North Baptist Church; Rev. Joel Ortendahl, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church; Rev. Tommy Watson, pastor of the Waddill Street Baptist Church; Rev. Charles Gresham pastor of Northwest Christian Church; Bill Gleaton, educational director of the North Baptist Church; Cloyce Powell, minister of music at the First Baptist Church and possibly others.

Faculty—Charles Qualls, Joe Simpson, Rusty Talbot, Barney Newton, Billy Gray, Scott Johnson, George McCoy, Frank Todd, E. A. Randles, and others.

Alla, Prosper Split Cage Games Tuesday

With a sleet storm pounding against the roof outside the Prosper gym Tuesday night, a raging girls basketball battle between Alla and Prosper grew into a tempest inside. The green clad Prosper lasses sank a charity throw in the last 13 seconds of the game to seek out a 50 to 49 win. Jerry Hughes blasted out 36 of the Prosper points to gain game honors as Alla forwards shared honors with Sue McDonald blasting 17 points while team mates Helen Perry and Georgia Peterman each racked up 16. The game was knotted on eight occasions with neither team forging ahead more than four points throughout the contest. Alla outscored the winners on field tosses 22 to 20 but Prosper held the upper hand at the charity line.

Alla boys, in the night cap, found the range early and spanked the Prosper fivesome 59 to 17. They leaped to a fast first quarter lead of 17 to 6 and led at half time 34 to 8. Frank Svoboda paced the attack with 12 points followed by Waymon Reed's 7 and Joe Svoboda's and Mike Lucas' 6 each. For Prosper Ralph Duncan meshed 6 while team mate Bill Bailey swished 5.

Alla boys now possess a three win one loss record in 40B district play while the Alla girls stand at two wins and two losses. Alla entertains Frisco in a district encounter this Friday on the Alla hardwoods beginning at 7:30.

"Great Books Of Western World" Set Securied For Library

The Memorial Public Library has been selected to receive one of the 1,600 set of Great Books of the Western World being distributed through a selection committee of the American Library Association under a grant from the Old Dominion Foundation. Announcement of the name of recipients was made at the ALA headquarters in Chicago by David H. Clift, ALA Executive Secretary.

The celebrated 54-volume work including the unique idea-index the Syntopicon, was produced by Encyclopedia Britannica in collaboration with the University of Chicago. To assure that an adequate cross-section of universities, colleges and public libraries possessed the set the Old Dominion Foundation advanced a sum sufficient to distribute 1,600 sets and invited the American Library Association to serve as the agency of selection and distribution. A special ALA Great Books Selection Committee, appointed for this purpose by the ALA Executive Board, has been working at this project for several months.

To get the project under way, the Selection Committee mailed an application questionnaire on September 1, 1955, to approximately 30,000 libraries, using the comprehensive lists of the R. R. Bowker Co., including libraries in the following categories: public, college and university, junior college, public high school, Catholic high school, private high school; as well as to all state library agencies.

Any library, anywhere in the U. S. however, was also invited to make application for a set if the application form had not been received by September 15, 1955. The 1,600 successful applicants were selected from among the several thousand libraries that replied.

The old Dominion Foundation was established in 1941 by Paul Mellon. Grants of over $20,000,000 have been made by the Foundation for "religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational purposes as shall be in the furtherance of the public welfare."

Great Books of the Western World.

Produced by Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., in collaboration with the University of Chicago. William Benton, publisher; Robert Maynard Hutchins, editor; Mortimer J. Adler, associate editor and editor of the Syntopicon.

"The set contains 54 volumes encompassing 443 works by 74 authors . . . spanning Western through from Homer and the Bible to the 20th century. It totals 32,000 pages, comprising 25,000,000 words. Editorial preparation of the set occupied 100 scholars, chiefly engaged on the Syntopicon, for eight years and cost $2,000,000.

"The set contains whole works, not excerpts, and for 21 of the 74 authors, all their works. It represents the only publication in English or the only edition aside from rare or expensive printings, of key words of Aristotle, Hippocrates, Galen, Euclid, Archimedes, Ptolemy, Copernicus, Galileo, Harvey, Descartes, Pascal, Newton, Montesquieu, Kant, Lavoisier, Fourier, Faraday and Freud.

"The set includes 1,200 pages of original writing, including Dr. Hutchins' introductory volume, 'The Great Conversation,' and the 102 introductory essays in the Syntopicon by Dr. Adler. The unique contribution of the set is the Syntopicon, Volumes 2 and 3. It comprises an 'idea index' through which it is possible to trace 102 fundamental 'Great Ideas' and their 2,987 subordinate topics through all the writings of Volumes 4 to 54 of the set. It is as though all these 443 works had been read 2,987 times, each time with a particular topic in mind.

"Over 400,000 man-hours of selective reading have thus already been done for the Great Books user; this would be over 70 years for an individual reading 24 hours a day. The Syntopicon operates in the field of ideas as the dictionary does in the field of words and the encyclopedia in the field of facts, thus constituting a third basic reference work. There are 163,000 references to the volume, page, and part of page in which the 2,987 topics are discussed in the 443 works.

Achievement Banquet

Outstanding 4-H club boys and girls of Collin County received their awards at the Achievement Banquet on Monday night, January 16, in the First Baptist Church of McKinney. Without the wonderful cooperation of adult leaders and sponsors who work untiringly for the men and women of tomorrow, this banquet would not have been possible. We have all of the Home Demonstration Clubs, International Harvester Co., McKenzie-Borden Co., Dallas County Farm Bureau, Foremost Dairies, and others to thank for their fine cooperation.

Hybrid Lambs Offer Prospect Of More Efficient Meat And Wool Production

The breeds are crosses of purebred Hampshires, Shropshires, Southdowns, and Merinos. Commercial growers, however, can purchase crossbred lambs by choosing their own grade ewes. Only high-quality purebreds of any other breed.

Records of tests showing the performance and production and lower mortality rates cover the crossbreds, purebred and three-way crosses tested for four years. Comparisons were based upon the production index of each ewe. This index indicates the ewes' producing ability in terms of weaned weight of lambs and weight of ewe being bred.

The average production index of three-way-cross lambings was 74.4 compared with 62.0 for the purebred lambs used in this cross.

Clothing Outlook

Americans are spending a smaller share of the family income for clothing. Studies of clothing consumption habits in the past few years show some interesting changes.

Demands for informal, easy-to-care-for garments have increased. This is in line with such other modern trends as suburban living, early marriage, larger families, do-it-yourself housework and wage-earning homemakers. Attitudes toward clothes also have changed. Nowadays, automobiles, home furnishings and equipment have taken much of the prestige role from clothing. Thus the share of the family income going for presstige dressing has dropped.

Outlook for the clothing market is favorable in the years ahead, despite these changes in attitudes and consumption. The high level of consumer incomes, the population increase, and the increasing number of teenagers will assure a good market.

Consumers will be offered a greater choice of garments. Improved blending of man-made and natural fibers will provide fabric that is more durable, more comfortable, and easier to care for. Prices will be slightly higher on the average for all clothing combined.

• • •

Clothing Prices For '56

It will pay consumers to shop carefully for clothing in 1956. The outlook is for slightly higher prices this year. There will be greater variety to choose from. Improved blending of man-made and natural fibers will offer more durable, more comfortable clothing that will be more easily cared for.

Prices for the last half of 1955 moved up. Work clothing has begun to show increases and shoe manufacturers have increased prices. Indications point to a continued increase from $1.00 to $1.50 per pair. A study of markets shows the following trends:

Women's and Misses' Coats and Suits-Prices stable and unchanged from current levels regardless of costs of materials and supplies.

Women's and Misses' Dresses-Strong, firm price with some increases in the low quality category.

Outlook For Furnishings And Equipment

Major household goods were produced at a record rate in 1955. The housing boom and mass media advertising increased demand for these products. Increases in prices were more common than reductions. The situation is expected to remain about the same in '56.

More stores are selling more kinds of merchandise. Some specialize in discounts from advertised list prices for well-known brands. Some department stores have increased stocks to include bonehold items. Sales have been stepped up by advertising and liberal credit terms.

There were moderate reductions in retail prices of home furnishings during 1955 in various types of stores. Off-list pricing has been most wide-spread for electrical appliances, including radio and TV sets. Some retailers offer limited service and feature standard brands at off-list prices.

The big selection of products and varieties of services available is likely to battle consumers. Home management specialists remind families that in order to get the most for their money in goods and services they will need to plan and shop carefully.

Manufacturers and distributors now provide a great deal of information on furnishings and equipment. Information to guide consumers is also available from county home demonstration agents' offices.

Built like an angel food cake, with inner and outer cores, this water-treating system at Wylie is called a "clarifloculator." It is one of two which will treat Lavon Lake water with carbon, lime and iron before it passes through seven feet of sand and then into pipe lines to Dallas and 10 neighboring towns.

Dallas News Staff Photos

Project Manager D. J. Bandy, right, shows A. C. McClain and W. P. Blackwell how to cast (from concrete) 72 water troughs which will be integral parts of the rapid sand filter system being set up at Lavon Lake. The Lavon water filter system will be able to treat 24,000,000 gallons a day.

Work Goes Ahead On Projects For Lavon Reservoir

By WALTER S. ROBINSON
In The Dallas Morning News

Mere mockups and materials of $4,500,000 Dallas efforts to tap a new reservoir at Lavon Lake are springing up in Collin County.

At Wylie Project Boss D. J. Bandy still was awaiting arrival of delayed plastering paint, lining and brushing. But he said enough contracts had been awarded to stay on schedule, despite the steel shortage.

For example, work on the huge water treatment plant ($3,230,143) held the past because the month permitted contractors to go ahead with various phases of the work while they checked daily for steel shipments.

The big push Saturday was to complete the clarifloculators. Bandy received word that Lavon's huge combination settling tank and water purification plant is one of the biggest in the country.

There will be two clarifloculators at Lavon.

Each will treat 24,000,000 gallons of water at a time as it moves from Lavon Lake.

Bandy said the big water treatment plant will be able to treat 24,000,000 gallons of Lavon water a day — and we can double that capacity when needed.

The clarifloculator, to built like an angel food cake, explained Bandy. It has an inner core and an outer core. There will be a constant flow of water from the lake through the clarifloculators and into the filter building where it will be run through seven feet of special sand, then into the reservoir holding 24,000,000 gallons each. When this water goes into the pipe lines it will be about as pure as man can make it.

While Bandy and 98 helpers rush work on the clarifloculators and other parts of the giant water treatment plant on the outskirts of the town of Wylie, other 6-figure contracting jobs are being let for work on pipelines over the country side.

There's the Wylie-to-McKinney water line, which is being laid at a cost of $205,642.08; the Dallas-Mesquite line, already completed at $122,575.93; the Wylie-Garland-Dallas line, $1,129,980.20; Mesquite storage tank, $40,643 (completed); Garland and Dallas storage tanks, $248,269; Wylie-Plano pipe line, $199,059.80; Mesquite-Forney 14-inch pipe line, $191,285.80; and the McKinney-to-Farmersville pipe line $296,605.50.

A. P. Rollins, general manager of the North Texas Municipal Water District, said the total of contracts for storage tanks in several towns, plus the Wylie-to-Rockwall-to-Royce City water lines, and a contract for building the water line from the intake tower in Lavon Lake to the big water treatment plant.

Target date for getting Lavon water moving toward Dallas and into the 10-town network of pipe lines is Oct. 1.

TP&L Lawsuit Protests Action By Garland

The Texas Power & Light Company went to court Friday with a complaint that the City of Garland is illegally shackling it in operating against the city's competitive municipal electric system.

The power firm protested that the Garland city council Jan. 10 had turned down its request to extend lines to serve a pump station of the new North Texas Municipal Water District.

The turndown, said TP&L was voted despite the fact that TP&L Nov. 4 signed a 20-year contract to serve the pump station.

The council, in rejecting the power firm's bid to extend its line to the pump station, said that Garland's municipal electric system was adequate to serve everyone. Any additional power lines, said the council in a resolution, would duplicate service and be unsightly.

Dis. Clerk Bill Shaw docketed the case for Dist. Judge Dallas A. Blankenship's later set Feb. 2 for a hearing on the matter.

At the hearing, TP&L will seek a mandamus to compel Garland's council to issue a permit so it may serve the pump station and to declare illegal certain ordinances regulating private power firms.

The power firm asserts that a 50-year franchise granted it by Garland Aug. 2, 1915, supersedes any ordinances that the city has passed since then.

The North Texas Water District which owns the pump station in question has contracted for water from Lavon Dam, north of Garland. It will supplement the water of Dallas and provide water also for McKinney, Princeton, Farmersville, Wylie, Plano, Rockwall, Royse City, Garland, Mesquite and Forney.

The pump station at Garland will be near Old Miller Road and Dairy Road. TP&L has already connected to provide service at a raw water plant of the district at Lavon dam, a treatment plant at Wylie and booster stations at McKinney, Rockwall and Garland.

Record Volume Of Christmas Mail Is Handled In Area

Public cooperation today was credited with improved handling of a record volume of Christmas mail in this area. George A. Gray, director of the Post Office Department's Texas-Louisiana Region, said reports now being made to his office in Dallas indicate that there was about a six per cent increase in mail over Christmas of 1954. Postal revenues also increased about six ppr cent while work hours were up only two per cent.

This increased efficiency, which is reflected in reports from the largest offices of the region, is traceable to the best cooperation from the public the Post Office has ever had, "Mr. Gray said.

He cited and unprecedented amount of publicity by newspapers and radio and television stations urging the public to separate, face and bundle letters and to mail early.

"The public responded remarkably," he declared. "Most people with Christmas cards to mail carefully separated them into local and out-of-town bundles and faced them for quick processing through cancelling machines, speeding up the dispatch of outgoing mail and helping postal workers keep pace with the deluge that gave the Department its biggest volume in history."

The regional official concluded that this public cooperation and the good work of postal employees and transportation companies kept the mail flowing smoothly. "There was no delayed mail in post offices in Texas and Louisiana on Christmas Eve," he said, "and I give a give a great deal of credit to the publicity by press, radio and television."

The Post Office "Mail Early" campaign is a continuing thing, he explained, but except at Christmas time it pertains to mailing early in the day.

Postmaster Don O. Davis of McKinney states that he and his employees in the McKinney Post Office are very grateful to their patrons for their wonderful cooperation during the past Christmas holiday period. "The cooperation of the public was wonderful," Mr. Davis said, "and it was an extreme pleasure as always to serve such a fine group of people. We are deeply grateful for the help and cooperation we received."

Mrs. S. A. Welch and daughter, Miss Nell Welsh, of Garland, and her son, James Welch, wife and daughter, Beverly, of Minneapolis Minn., visited friends in McKinney Friday afternoon. The Welch family formerly resided in this city.

Mrs. J. R. Frisby of Cottage Hill was in Fort Worth Tuesday, on business.

Jack Anderson Is Attending Yurown Gas Co. Meeting

Progress of an important Texas industry during the past six months will be reviewed in San Antonio, January 21, according to Jack P. Anderson of the Yurown Gas Co, local butane firm who is attending the meeting. The occasion is the annual mid-winter assembly of members of the Texas Butane Dealers Association, largest state or regional group in the industry in the entire nation. Sessions will last throughout Saturday.

Mr. Anderson who takes an active part in affairs of the Association, said the past six months have brought tremendous advancement in the industry and that indications are bright for future progress of similar proportions. More than 600,000 small-towns and rural families in Texas are served by dealers in butane and propane gas, he revealed, according to a recent survey by the Association.

One of the Association's outstanding achievements during the half-year which will be reviewed at the meeting was the advancement of an industry-wide accident prevention program. In this effort remarkable progress was made, the local dealer said. The Texas butane industry received high praise from President Eisenhower and Governor Shivers for its 100 per cent perfect record in the recent Safe Driving Day. This Mr. Anderson proudly proclaimed, was a repetition of the group's record in the 1954 Safe Driving Day and "one we expect to continue scoring 100 per cent in every year," he asserted.

The San Antonio meeting will be presided over by Paul Thompson, of Weslaco, president of the Texas Butane Dealers Association.
